

LAIL Society and personal notes for the Sunday issue of the Journal, to secure publication, must be in the hands of the city editor by Saturday

With only ten days between now and Ash Wednesday, there is not much time left for entertainment. Quite a number of gatherings are announced. The card parties which were so few for a time are zeviving with all their old vigor and favors and prizes still aid the merchants to dispose of their beautiful wares. Among the companies of the past week have been card parties given by Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Catterson, Miss Jessie Sweet, Miss Emma Minter, Mrs. B. A. Bullock and Mrs. C. B. Fawkner: a large evening party given by Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Coffin Tuesday evening; the marriage of Miss Sada M. Brigham and Mr. James King, of Wauseon, O.; two coffees given by Mrs. M. Dietrichs and daughter, one Wednesday and the other Friday, for Mrs. A. E. Dietrichs and Mrs. Joseph Garaghty; a 4o'clock tea given by Mrs. Edward Daniels for her sister, Miss Harriet Johnson, of Wichita, Kan., Friday; a conundrum party Friday evening, given by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCune for Mr. and Mrs. McCune, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. Jordan, of Ottawa, Ill.; a large reception given by Mrs. John C. Shoemaker and daughter, Mrs. George C. Pearson; a small calling company by the Misses Margaret and Belle Baidwin for their guest, Miss Mabel Williams, of New York; a thimble party given by Mrs. Thomas Dean; a luncheon by Mrs. George E. Townley, and a children's party by Mrs. Bement Lyman for her daughter Eloise. Musically there was Mr. Bahr's pupils' concert, the Schubert day of the Matinee Musicale and the musicale at Mrs. Philip Hildebrand's for the English Lutheran Church. The literary clubs reveled in unusually good matter presented, and the Century Club is especially to be congratulated for its Tuesday evening success. The Dramatic Club closed the week with a very creditable presentation of the operetta "The Spectre Knight."

Tuesday morning the wedding of John J.

Neumeister, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Neumeister, and Miss Elizabeth F.

Bouvy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrien Bouvy, of No. 57 English avenue, occurred at St. Mary's Church. Vicar-general A. Scheideler performed the ceremony, with Prof. Aug. H. Mueller presiding at the organ. The brides-maids were Miss Lena Freitag and Miss Kate Clarey, and the groomsmen were Messrs. John M. Freitag and George J. Neumeister. Messrs. Chas. O. Nichols and Chas. G. Mueller acted as ushers. The church was filled with the friends and relatives, and following the marriage a reception took place at the bride's parents' residence. Many elegant presents were given to the happy couple. Mrs. George E. Townley gave a unique luncheon yesterday in observance of the seventy-ninth birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. McDonald, of New Albany. The company included four old ladies who were great-grandmothers, four grandmothers, four mothers and four wives. The four generations, Mrs. McDonald, her daughter, Mrs. Townley, her daughter, Mrs. E. S. R. Seguin, and her son Autin were present. The table where the oldest ladies were seated was covered with a linen cloth embroidered in pansies by the guest of honor. Violets decorated the table and at each plate was a card tied with violet ribbon, and bearing an appropriate quotation. The other tables were ornamented, one with white roses, one with carnations, and one with daffodils, the ribbons for the cards corresponding in color with the flowers. The conversation was very interesting. The ladies of Section 5, of the Free Kindergarten Society will give a Washington tea, from 2 to 6 to-morrow, at the home of Mrs. T. L. The first operetta yet given by the Dramatic Club was presented last night at the Propyleum before a large audience. The committee, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. William Elder and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wulsin, selected Alfred Cellier's "The Spectre Knight," and were successful in casting it. The scene was a wood, with tents and lattices, chairs and tables prettily arranged. The characters were Grand Duke, taken by Dr. D. A. Thompson:

the ghost of the spectre knight, and Otho, another grand duke, Mr. Clinton L. Hare. An orchestra of six pieces was directed by Mr. John Chislett. The music is taking, and the good voices of the singers were never heard to better advantage. The whole performance moved very smoothly, and the committee have reason to con-gratulate themselves upon having accom-plished their portion of the yearly work so well. The operetta will be repeated Tues-

A beautiful pink and white luncheon was given yesterday by Mrs. Bement Lyman for her daughter Eloise, whose birthday anniversary it was. The parlors were fragrapt with the perfume of pink and white primroses, hyacinths and azaleas. The young hostess received her friends wearing a dainty gown in keeping with the colors chosen.
